

Nordea Family Connection Terms

Intro

The Family Connection enables family members to benefit from shared advantages. The Family Connection is established at the customer's request. These terms describe the key rules and principles.

Who can be included in a Family Connection

Family members living in the same household who are Nordea personal customers residing in Finland may be included in a Family Connection. A Family Connection may consist of two adults and their minor children, or one adult and their minor children. A customer may belong to only one Family Connection at a time.

Establishing a Family Connection

The Family Connection is established upon request by the adult family members. If there are two adults, both must request the establishment. Minor children are included upon request by both adults. As a rule, children must live at the same address as the requesting adult. Adding a child living at another address requires the consent of the child's guardian residing at the same address as the child.

Validity and termination

The Family Connection is valid until further notice. Either of the adult members may request termination. In such a case, the Family Connection is dissolved without Nordea informing the other family members. A Family Connection is also dissolved if a member joins another Family Connection. A child is automatically removed upon reaching the age of 18.

Changes to the Family Connection

Changes require submitting a new request including all family members.

Other terms

Members of a Family Connection may be entitled to certain benefits under Nordea's loyalty programme based on the combined engagement of the Family Connection. Details of the applicable programme and its benefits are available on Nordea's website. If the conditions are not met, members are not entitled to the benefits.
