2. Description of the main features of the credit product

The type of credit	State-guaranteed student loan, one-off credit
The total amount of credit This means the ceiling of the total sums made available under the credit agreement.	The maximum loan amount is stated in the guarantee decision given by the state.
The conditions governing the drawdown This means how and when you will obtain the money.	The loan is paid to the customer in accordance with the guarantee decision on the basis of either a drawdown agreement to be separately made or the partial drawdowns separately made by the customer. The loan can be drawn down in partial drawdowns during the year of study. The drawdowns are stated in the guarantee. The loan may not be drawn down after termination or interruption of studies. If, however, the guarantee decision has been made after an academic year has ended or after the termination of studies, or if less than two (2) months have elapsed from the end of the year of study or the termination of the studies, the loan may be drawn down under the guarantee within two (2) months after the decision was made.
The duration of the credit agreement	We will agree on a repayment schedule with you after you have completed your studies. Repayment usually begins about 1.5 years from graduation and the repayment period is usually twice the time you have spent in studying.
Instalments and, where appropriate, the order in which instalments will be allocated	You will have to pay the following: Unless the bank and the customer agree otherwise, the first repayment amount of the student loan must be made after two (2) years at the latest from the first due date following the date of termination or interruption of the studies, but after ten (10) years, at the latest, from the first interest capitalisation date following the drawdown of the loan. The repayment period of a student loan is no more than fifteen years of the first repayment, unless otherwise agreed. Interest and/or charges will be payable in the following manner: The interest falls due every six months (interest period): on 15 June and 15 December. The interest is added to the principal on the above-mentioned dates if the borrower has been granted student financial aid for the term of study in question or the next term of study. When the loan repayment begins, the borrower and the bank can agree on the maturation of interest deviating from the above in a separate repayment schedule.
The total amount you will have to pay This means the amount of borrowed capital plus interest and possible costs related to your credit.	In addition to the loan amount to be drawn down, the duration of your studies and the repayment schedule of your loan have an effect on the total amount of the loan to be repaid.

Sureties required This is description of the security to be provided by you in relation to the credit agreement.	As the government guarantees your student loan, no other surety or guarantors are required.

3. Costs of the credit

The borrowing rate or, if applicable, different borrowing rates which apply to the credit agreement	The borrowing rate is composed of the reference interest rate and a margin. Reference rate is the 12-month Euribor rate. The loan marginal is 0.50 %.
Annual Percentage Rate of Charge (APR) This is the total cost expressed as an annual percentage of the total amount of credit. The APR is there to help you compare different offers.	The indicative Annual Percentage Rate (APR) of a student loan is 3,6 % when the loan amount is 4 500,00 EUR the loan period is 15 years and the margin is 0,50 %. The estimated total cost of the loan is 6 068,13 EUR and the number of loan payments is 180. The calculation includes a fee for the automatic debiting of loan payments, which is 2,50 EUR per payment, and an arrangement fee of 10,00 EUR . The calculation assumes that the loan will be drawn down over five years and the loan interest, payments and fees will remain unchanged throughout the loan period. The reference rate of the example calculation is the 12-month Euribor, which was quoted at 2,184 % (on 8 September 2025)
Is it compulsory, in order to obtain the credit or to obtain it on the terms and conditions marketed, to take out - an insurance policy securing the credit or - another ancillary service agreement If the costs of these services are not known by the creditor, they are not included in the APR.	No No

Related costs

Any other costs deriving from the credit agreement	Arrangement fee through digital channels: EUR 10.00. Arrangement fee through branch/Customer Service: EUR 20.00. The arrangement fee is charged upon the opening of a loan. Raising fee EUR 10.00 per raise. Concluding a student loan drawdown agreement is free of charge. If you have not made a drawdown agreement, partial drawdown through digital channels: EUR 10.00 or through branch/Customer Service: EUR 20.00. Automatic debit of a loan payment costs EUR 2.50. A paper invoice costs EUR 4.10 (if a loan payment is not debited automatically). All costs related to credits are listed in the tariff.
Conditions under which the above-mentioned costs related to the credit agreement can be changed	The bank may increase the loan charges and fees on the grounds based on an authoritative decision or order to correspond to the change in costs, if the reason for the revision directly concerns the credit agreement in question. The increase of the charges or fees may not exceed the increase in actual expenses incurred to the creditor, which constitute the grounds for the loan charges and fees. However, it is considered sufficient that the revision in the charges and fees roughly corresponds to the increase in actual expenses. The bank's right to the above-mentioned increase ceases after the grounds for it no longer exist.
Costs in the case of late payments Missing payments could have severe consequences for you (e.g. forced sale) and make obtaining credit more difficult.	Upon payment default, you are charged annual default interest from the due date up to the payment date in accordance with the Interest Act. The default interest, however, is always at least equal to the interest charged on the debt at any given time.

Reminder on late payment: EUR 5,00 per reminder.

Exercise of the right of withdrawal	The borrower is entitled to withdraw from a student loan by notifying the bank of it within 14 days from making the credit agreement or a later date on which the borrower has received preliminary information and the agreement terms and conditions in a permanent manner. The notice of withdrawal can be made by calling Nordea Customer Service, by sending a message through Netbank's mail, by letter or at any Nordea's branch located in Finland. The notice of withdrawal must specify the loan and include at least the following information: borrower's name, personal identity number, loan number and borrower's signature. If other services, such as automatic debit of the loan, have been linked to the student loan, these ancillary services are automatically cancelled when the student loan is cancelled. If the borrower uses the right of withdrawal, he or she is liable to pay to the bank the credit interest for the period the loan was at the borrower's disposal. The bank is entitled to debit a compensation to the borrower's loan servicing account or from funds in other accounts. The Finnish Financial Ombudsman Bureau (FINE) and its Banking Complaints Board provide solution proposals in disputes. FINE does not handle disputes that are pending in or have been processed by the Consumer Disputes Board or a court of justice. The easiest way to initiate the handling of a complaint is to send an online contact form available at fine.fi/en. Consumers are also entitled to file a complaint with the Consumer Disputes Board (kuluttajariita.fi/en). Document providing reference rate information subject to the Consumer Protection Act
It may be stated in credit agreements that the interest rate payable by the borrower can change in accordance with changes in the Euribor rate used as the reference rate. Euribor rates are managed by the European Money Markets Institute (EMMI). A change to the reference rate will decrease or raise the payable interest rate in the manner laid down in the credit agreement.
